護理的經濟效力

護士宣言

護理的真諦，是對個人的生命、尊嚴、權利的尊重，
當護士穿起制服，就是肯定對社會的承擔，
以寸寸愛心、處處關懷，以誠以愛照顧病人。

隨著醫療科技急速發展，醫療服務日趨專門化，
病者對醫療服務要求亦不斷提升。

因此，護士必須時刻裝備自己、持續進修、
終身學習，朝向醫護專業發展之途。

憑藉無限愛心、堅持、拚搏精神與無私的奉獻，
繼續燃亮護理之光。

Dr. Pamela F CIPRIANO
President, International Council of Nurses

Greetings from the President of the International Council of Nurses on the occasion of the
Hong Kong International Nurses Day Celebration Dinner 2024

It is my pleasure to extend greetings from the International Council of Nurses (ICN) to the Hong Kong Academy of Nursing & Midwifery (HKANM), on the occasion of International Nurses Day and your Celebratory Dinner. You will remember that for International Nurses Day 2023, ICN chose the theme "Our Nurses. Our Future" to shine a light on nurses and on a brighter future and sets out what we want for nursing in the future in order to address the global health challenges and improve global health for all. We also launched our Charter for Change: 10 policy actions that governments and employers must take to create and sustain health care systems that are safe, affordable, accessible, and responsive and shift nurses from being invisible to invaluable. This year, we continue to present the benefits of investment in nursing with our theme "Our Nurses. Our Future. The economic power of care".

This theme and our IND report, which will be released on 12 May, present an in-depth analysis of how elevating the nursing profession can catalyse transformative improvements in health care delivery, economic development, peace and societal well-being. With numerous arguments by leading economic experts, our report demonstrates the impact that investing in the nursing workforce has, not only on the well-being of populations, but also on boosting economic growth by enhancing workforce productivity; strengthening health care systems, which is critical for ensuring preparedness and effective response during public health emergencies; alleviating poverty and improving gender equality; and contributing to social cohesion, peace and prosperity. I would urge all nurses in Hong Kong to use this report to increase their influence on policy makers, employers and politicians so that everyone can benefit from the power of nurses and the economic returns that will ensue.

Please join us in calling for:

- Investment in creating decent nursing jobs.
- Investment in the right number of nurses, with the right skills, in the right places.
- Empowering the provision of high-quality, affordable, integrated, people-centred care across the care continuum, paying special attention to underserved areas.
- Expanding and enhancing high-quality education and continuous professional development opportunities to ensure that nurses possess the competencies required to meet the evolving health needs of communities, enabling them to work to their full potential.
- Implementing strategies dedicated to ensuring and enhancing the physical, mental and emotional well-being of nurses.
- Equipping nurses with the right resources necessary to meet the demands of their roles.
- Ensuring the safety and security of nurses in all settings including those operating in crisis and humanitarian aid settings.

On behalf of the International Council of Nurses, and our 135 members associations around the world, I send you my best wishes for a dynamic and productive meeting and a wonderful celebration of International Nurses Day!

Pamela F. Cipriano

Congratulatory Message

Prof. TIWARI Fung-ye, Agnes
Chairman, Nursing Council of Hong Kong

As the Chairman of the Nursing Council of Hong Kong, I am honored to extend heartfelt congratulations to all of you on the auspicious occasion of International Nurses Day 2024. This year's theme, "Our Nurses. Our Future. The Economic Power of Care," highlights the invaluable role of nurses not only in healthcare but also in shaping economic well-being.

Nurses are at the heart of our health system, pivotal in policy-making, quality improvements, and sustainability. They are educators, leaders, and innovators, whose contributions reduce economic burdens and enhance productivity. The vision of the Hong Kong Academy of Nursing and Midwifery Limited to achieve international standards in safe and quality healthcare through advanced nursing practice regulation resonates deeply on this International Nurses Day.

Today, we reaffirm our commitment to empowering our nurses. Investing in nursing means investing in the future of healthcare. Advocating for enhanced education, leadership, and practice is crucial for a robust system and acknowledges the significant economic role of our nurses.

Let us inspire each nurse to see themselves as leaders and change agents, vital for a healthier, more prosperous society. Together, let us strive with strength and conviction towards excellence in nursing.

On behalf of the Hong Kong Nursing Council, I extend my deepest appreciation to all nurses for your unwavering dedication and exceptional service. Your hard work significantly impacts our community and beyond.

Happy International Nurses Day!

Founding President,
Hong Kong Academy of Nursing & Midwifery

Dear nurses and midwives,

On this International Nurses Day, we celebrate you and the incredible work you do to shape our future. This year's theme, "Our Future, The Economic Power of Care," highlights the vital role you play in healthcare delivery and the remarkable impact of advanced nursing practice.

As caretakers, you possess an unparalleled ability to heal, comfort, and uplift. The dedication and compassion you bring to your profession are truly awe-inspiring. Your tireless efforts ensure the well-being of countless individuals and families, making a lasting difference in their lives.

Beyond your essential role in patient care, you also contribute to the economic strength of our society. Your expertise and skills drive innovation, research, and development in healthcare. By embracing advanced nursing practice, you pave the way for a brighter future, where the power of care is recognized as a cornerstone of economic growth.

Today, we honor your unwavering commitment, resilience, and expertise. You are the backbone of healthcare, the true champions of compassion. Your invaluable contributions make our world a better place, and we are forever grateful.

Happy International Nurses Day! Thank you for being the driving force behind our future.

With heartfelt appreciation,

Susie Lum

Founding President of HKAN

Congratulatory Message

Prof. CHAIR Sek-ying
President, Hong Kong Academy of Nursing & Midwifery

Dear HKANM Fellows and Members,

In resonance with the theme of International Nurses Day (IND) 2024: "Our Nurses. Our Future. The economic power of care," HKANM has marked a wonderful chapter in the journey towards continuous excellence and growth.

Several important milestones have invigorated us with renewed strength, energy, and courage for the further development of advanced nursing practice. First, the grand opening of our new office in June 2023 was a momentous step towards more streamlined and efficient operations. Moreover, our Fellowship Conferment Ceremony in October 2023 indicated a record high of 143 inductees from various specialties joining our ever-growing family. Earlier this year, we adopted a new name that encompasses midwifery and revamped our official website signifying the professional significance of both nursing and midwifery.

The Academy has fully embraced the return of local and international in-person events. Our Fellows and Members actively participated in a wide variety of high-quality, accredited, and sponsored professional development activities, such as conferences, leadership meetings, career talks, networking, and fund-raising events. Notably, we hosted the 2nd International Advanced Nursing Practice Conference in November 2023, coinciding with the Academy's 10th anniversary celebration. Our steadfast commitment to cross-regional and international collaborations is evident in our organisation and participation in such knowledge-exchange events. These activities, along with our collaboration with the Hospital Authority for the Greater Bay Area Specialty Nurse Exchange, play a crucial role in advancing research and continuing education for advanced nursing practice, thereby ensuring the delivery of world-class, high-quality healthcare.

In line with the ICN's "Charter for Change" initiative, the Academy has revised its Articles of Association to include two new membership categories for non-local nurses. We proactively respond to government policies, aid policymakers in implementing health policies, and keep the general public informed through publicity and community education. Since 2023, we have contributed 31 articles to the Hong Kong Economic Journal under the column "護專世代" and made 11 guest appearances on RTHK's "Healthpedia" (精靈一點) programme so far.

As we celebrate this special day, I would like to once again express my heartfelt gratitude to our valued community of dedicated nurses for their tireless efforts in pursuing excellence and delivering safe and high-quality healthcare that meets international standards. The Academy's progress over the years owes much to you. My appreciation also extends to our partners, donors, friends, and other stakeholders for their unwavering support in helping us to build and optimise an enduring and sustainable specialty nursing workforce.

I wish you all a happy International Nurses Day! I look forward to continuing our shared mission to empower nurses and shape the future of healthcare.

2024 INTERNATIONAL NURSES DAY CELEBRATION DINNER ORGANIZING COMMITTEE CO-CHAIRPERSONS' MESSAGE

On behalf of Hong Kong Baptist Hospital, it is my great pleasure to co-organize the International Nurses Day 2024 celebration with the Hong Kong Academy of Nursing & Midwifery and Kowloon East Cluster of the Hospital Authority.

The theme of International Nurses Day 2024 is "Our Nurses, Our Future, the Economic Power of Care", with the aim to reshape perceptions and demonstrate how strategic investment in nursing can bring considerable economic and societal benefits. Nursing profession is the major workforce of the healthcare profession. The roles of nurses are crucial in society in enhancing better patient care and keeping people healthy. Investment in nursing to sustain stable manpower and strive for advancing professional excellence can guarantee quality standards of care, better patient safety and hence saving healthcare cost.

Today I would like to take this opportunity to extend my sincere congratulations to all nurses for your distinctive achievements in delivering high quality healthcare services for the community over the years and particularly in fighting against the unprecedented outbreaks of the COVID-19 pandemic. Your devotion, selfless commitment and conjoint efforts among all sectors in safeguarding the health of the public are highly commendable. Let us build on existing strength and create a better future for health.

I wish all of you a happy and memorable day in celebrating the International Nurses Day 2024.
